Congregational Church Gives Unanimous Call To Its Pastorate

An important meeting of the members of the local Congregational church was held Monday evening in the vestry of the church to hear a report of the special committee, to whom the task of suggesting a candidate for the pastorate was assigned. The committee presented the name of Edward C. Dahl, now a student at the Yale Divinity school, who was the preacher in the church on Sunday, April 13. Mr. Dahl will graduate in June and the committee were unanimous in offering him as a candidate. After deliberate consideration, the members of the church present voted unanimously to invite him to assume the pastorate of the church, to begin in August, at a salary of $2,000 per year, and a call was extended to him. It is hoped that he will accept and it is expected that he will preach in the church several times, before he actually assumes his task. When and if, his acceptance has been received, the Press hopes to be able to print a brief biography of his life and career.

Fortnightly Brings Lecturer On France

On Saturday evening, May 17, in the town hall, the ways and means committee of the Fortnightly, have arranged for a lecture on "Life in Invaded France" by Douglas Schneider, now of Boston.

Mr. Schneider, an American citizen, lived in France from 1914 to 1940. After working with the American Red Cross in liaison with the French military authorities in 1918 and 1919, he was in business in France until 1934. He then became associated with a French private boys' school in Paris where he was named co-headmaster in 1938. When the Germans took over Paris, June 14, 1940, Mr. Schneider was in the school and it was he who had to receive the German officers and to hand the school over to them. He acted as interpreter between the German military and French civilian authorities during the summer of 1940. He was in Paris until November 1940 under the German rule and reached this country in December, via Spain and Portugal.

Waxed Enthusiastic Over Symphony Concert Rendition Was Excellent

Before a large audience in the Auditorium on the Seminary campus, last Saturday evening, the Pioneer Valley Symphony, under the direction of Harold Alexander Leslie, rendered in a most efficient and masterly manner, a program of the works of Mendelssohn, Haydn, Humperdinck and Dvorak, as previously published in these columns. The large audience listened attentively and expressed its appreciation in loud applause at the close of each part. Seventy members of the orchestra, coming from many places, from various walks in life, proved that they were masters too and handled well their instruments as real lovers of music and true interpreters. Mr. Leslie was recalled to the stand several times and also asked the members of the orchestra to arise in a demonstration. Applause continued at the close of the program, so that as an encore, the orchestra played a little German folk symphony, entitled "I Love Little Pussy" written by Dr. Knowlton D. Stone, one of the directors of the Symphony association. The concert was given under the sponsorship of the Northfield schools and attracted many music lovers from Greenfield, Brattleboro and Keene. While the Seminary students were in attendance, the young men from Mt. Hermon were missing owing to an epidemic of measles "on the Hill." R. Stanley Reid of Greenfield, president of Pioneer Valley Symphony association with Mrs. Reid was present in the audience and expressed himself to many friends as highly pleased with the fifth and last concert in Northfield and the generous patronage given. The entire program of the evening was broadcast over WHAI through the courtesy of John W. Haisig. After the concert an impromptu reception and greeting was given to Mr. Leslie, as players took their farewell in this final program.

No Permits; No Fires All Woodlands Closed; Many Forest Fires

New England is having many forest fires this week, some of which have proved very disastrous. Thousands of men have been called out to fight them and much property has been threatened. The daily newspapers are filled with the accounts of forest destruction. The woodlands still remain closed by proclamation and the fishing season is at a standstill. The nearest large fire to Northfield is that on Wantasket Mountain opposite Brattleboro, where many men are fighting its progress, in charge of the fire department from Hinsdale. The fire started about last Monday noon and has been fanned by high winds, spreading it in all directions. Wednesday night it was still burning brightly and the glare of the flames and the heavy smoke can be readily seen from Northfield. A light rain Wednesday evening was not sufficient to check its inroads. Local Forest Fire Warden Johnson is on the alert here and is ready for any emergency, with men available and the fire wagon fully equipped. Orders are that no fire of any kind can be started in the open and the law will be strictly enforced upon all offenders. Also take warning and remember that all woodlands are closed to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Moody Honored In Atlanta

Copies of the Atlanta (Ga.) "Constitution" and "Journal" have reached the editor, in which articles appear, under date of April 21, giving an account of a greeting given to Mr. and Mrs. Ambert G. Moody, by Miss Amy Chadwick and participated in by many former students of Mt. Hermon school and the Seminary. The articles are of interest to many here and we quote:

"Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ambert G. Moody, former business manager of Northfield Seminary and Mt. Hermon school of Northfield, Mass. Miss Amy Chadwick, entertained them and former students at a dinner at a local tearoom Friday evening.

Ambert Moody, nephew of D. L. Moody, has spent 50 years in the service of the schools, and, after spending the winter in Florida, is visiting students scattered over the South. An informal program included brief address from every representative of the schools, also a report showing present day conditions in the schools, given by Mr. and Mrs. Moody.

The Northfield schools, founded by the late D. L. Moody, world-famed evangelist, are located on the Connecticut river, near the borders of both Vermont and New Hampshire and have trained hundreds of men and women in a program of Christian education.

Prof. Chandler Holton, elected temporary chairman of the group appointed a nominating committee composed of Rev. Lyle Percy, Prof. A. H. Armstrong and Mrs. P. L. Johnston to formulate a permanent Northfield-Hermon club in Georgia. Guests of the occasion included prominent educators in Georgia colleges and schools, together with ministers, missionaries and social workers."

District School Union Hears A Fine Address Supt. Robbin Retires

Members of the school committees of Northfield, Warwick, Bernardston, Gill, Leyden, contained in the 23rd superintendency union met at the Bernardston Inn on Monday for their annual dinner and business session. Harry Erickson of the Gill school committee was re-elected president and Mrs. Carroll Miller was chosen as secretary. It was a farewell meeting with Supt. Linville W. Robbins who has served the district in a most capable manner for many years and who retires on October 1. Mr. Erickson, addressed Supt. Robbins and paid him a real tribute for his sincere work and effort as well as for his accomplishments in the school administration of the various towns. In behalf of the school committees and the teachers of the district, Mr. Robbins was presented with a gift of money as a token of appreciation. Mr. Robbins responded, briefly but with deep emotion. The business meeting preceded the dinner at which Rev. Lester P. White, formerly of Mt. Hermon school, and now pastor of the Methodist church at Catochque, L. I., was the guest speaker. His subject was "Dandelions on the lawn" and he held the closest attention of his hearers in the discourse on educational matters. President Erickson named a committee consisting of the chairmen of all school committees in the district and himself to consider the matter of a successor to Mr. Robbins.

He leaves the Northfield post office at 10:30 and with the exception of a short time for lunch, covers all sections, to which has been added additional territory, in the days work. While the work is greater than previously the genial carrier smiles, for it also means more pay. Carrier Fred Huber, who was transferred to Bernardston, began carrying the mail from the Bernardston post office, about that town and Leyden. All patrons residing on the west side of the river will be served from the South Vernon office with an extension of its rural route.

The State Highways Are Marked For Safety Center Lines Defined

Motorists traveling along the state highways, may observe the newly painted white center lines. The markings are completed between Bernardston and Greenfield and those who drive a car had better understand just what the new improved system signifies. First of all it will be quite necessary to keep to the right of the road and to the right of the center line. The markings are based on 300-foot visibility needs on curves and hills.

Where center lines were solid, they now will be broken. On curves and hills a solid line will be painted to one side of the broken center line, and motorists may pass only when the broken line is on their right side of the solid marker.

At the top of hills, and in the center of curves where there is less than 300 foot visibility from either direction, two solid lines, come together to indicate it is unsafe to pass from either direction.

The plan is one that will make for safety, and those motorists who ignore the rules will get theirs. The state police will see that you conform to the regulations of the road when out driving.

EDITORIAL

LINDERBERGH

The poor boy who became a hero because he was successful in crossing the Atlantic by air, might have been dubbed foolhardy had he failed. Since his episode, he has fed at the crib of public favor and became wealthy and heady. Now he blasts forth his questionable opinions and opines to be especially endowed with wisdom, with which many of us disagree. Now he has met his "Waterloo" and gets what's coming to him. His only applause comes from a German newspaper, which applauds his position. Charlie was given the German Iron Cross some time ago—how he must prize it.

WHAT PRICE LIBERTY?

Liberty is a very costly commodity. It always comes high. And the Lord knows (even better than Congress) that taxes are grievous to be born. How they are to be paid is an honest problem in many a good man's mind. And one can sympathize with harrassed legislators as they come with fear and trembling to do something definite in the matter.

Maybe considerations like the following will help us all in meeting manfully this tax question. It was spoken by Ernest Bevin of Great Britain: "You can easily re-create wealth. You can't re-create liberty once it's gone."

Noted for its superb programs of a capella music as well as concerts with orchestral and instrumental accompaniment, the group has given concerts widely throughout the United States and Europe. Its most recent New York appearance was with Leopold Stokowski at Carnegie hall in a performance of the St. Matthew Passion. Dr. Williamson is the founder of the college and school. Defense Bonds, Stamps Go On Sale Here

The United States Defense Savings Bonds and Postal Savings Stamps were placed on sale in our Post Offices on Thursday, as part of the national effort to make America impregnable.

Postmasters Skilton and Quinlan are co-operating fully with the Treasury department and information in detail will soon be sent out to all our citizens.

Postmaster General Frank C. Walker says that the help of local postmasters would be "a real service to the country." He transmitted the thanks of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau for the help that postmasters had already given in the sale of United States securities, and also his thanks in advance "for the co-operation in this new effort."

A Defense Bond may be purchased for $18.75. In ten years, this bond will be worth $25. This is an increase of 33 1/3 per cent, equal to an annual interest return of 2.9 per cent, compounded semi-annually. Any time after 60 days from the date of purchase the bond may be redeemed for cash, in accordance with a table of redemption values printed on the face of the bond.

To spread investments widely among all the people in America, a limit of $5,000 has been set on the amount of these bonds to be bought by any one person in one year. The bonds are in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1000, all of which are sold for 75 per cent of their maturity value and all of which mature in ten years.

For the smaller investor who wants to buy a Government Bond on an easy payment plan, the post office will have a new series of Postal Savings Stamps, at 10c, 25c, 50c, $1, and $5. Each purchaser of any Savings Stamp higher than 10c will be given, free of charge, an attractive pocket album in which to paste his stamps until he has enough to buy a $25 bond or one of higher denomination.

Secretary Morgenthau said that even a boy or girl who saved 10c to buy a Savings Stamp would help the country. He added that "you can safeguard your own money and your own future, while helping the national defense, by buying United States Savings Bonds now."

Thirty Years Business

This week marks the 30th anniversary of business of Ryan and Casey of Greenfield, manufacturers of the famous Glenbrook Ginger Ale, distributed over a wide area and used by a large number of our own residents. Twice a week, each week their large delivery truck is in Northfield, supplying the trade and families. The present owner of the firm's business is Thomas F. Casey the remaining partner. In 1915 the firm began the manufacture of Glenbrook Ginger Ale using only the purest ingredients, pure ginger from the laboratory of DeLassier & Co. of New York City and the purest of water from the springs of Leyden Glen. The success of the business was apparent, for the demand for the new product greatly increased and has continued each year. Glenbrook Ginger Ale is now a household word. In addition they make a dozen or so of other soft drinks. They are purveyors in beverages for the table or for festive occasions. Their offices store and plant are located at 11 Ames St. in Greenfield.

"Down On The Hill"

o o o o o

TIME FLIES! It was a quarter of a century ago—in 1916—that we packed up our men's and boys' suits, our shirts and ties and socks, our work clothes and suspenders and luggage, took our five employees and moved "down on the hill"—into the store now occupied by our men's and dry goods departments.

Four years later we had outgrown the original floor space and expanded to our present size by the addition of a dry goods department and two complete departments for women's ready-to-wear and accessories. From outfitting men and boys ONLY, we have broadened our field until now our stocks include apparel of all kinds (except shoes) for every member of the family—from the first layette up. We can furnish luggage for your travels, sheets, linens, blankets, towels, curtains, drapes and Venetian blinds for your home. We can even do your dry cleaning. Our first force of five employees has now grown to thirty.

TIME FLIES—but the principles of fair dealing and friendly service remain the same. Only by a strict adherence to these principles, and a staunch belief in a "middle-of-the-road" policy in merchandising and by gearing our operations to conform to the changing times are we now able to celebrate our SILVER ANNIVERSARY.
